

Bid Development Support

Management

We project manage the submission, ensuring that clear timescales, action and leads are in place to submit a high quality bid. With expert advice and guidance at every stage.

Writing

We can provide a full bid writing service to provide the narrative, content and attachments for a bid submission. Working with your internal leads to provide accurate content.

Reviewing

If you have already created content then we offer support by reviewing the bid prior to submission, offering suggested ways to improve scores and success rates.

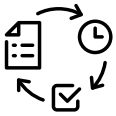

Our Team

Our Bid Management Team is led by our Senior Bid Writer (Emma Colclough). She directly liaises with clients to advise on the management of the bid and to agree the level of support required. Emma authors bids and manages overall submissions, utilising the Howbeck team of experts on clinical, workforce development, technology and system-level content.

Emma is experienced in bid writing for community, acute, primary care and voluntary sector bids and has a thorough understanding of the Public Contract Regulations 2015 and EU procurement rules that are predominantly used in healthcare.

Experience & Testimonials

Recent Tenders

- Offender Health
- APMS Practice contract
- Homeless Health
- GP Out of Hours
- Integrated Urgent Care
- Acute Services Framework
- Special Allocations

Grants/Funding

We have supported companies in successfully bidding for SBRI funding, GP Resilience Funds and other national funding streams.

Local Bids

We can develop smaller bids and business cases for service development at a local level.

Emma and Howbeck Healthcare have a very professional approach to the whole process – in terms of planning and preparation, clarifying the proposed service model, asking clarification questions of the Commissioners and then the production and co-ordination of the answers to all the questions as well as ensuring that it is fully and correctly added to the relevant procurement portal

Howbeck Healthcare were exceptional at supporting our successful bid for prison medical services. They were reactive and available, making the process as easy as possible. Wouldn't hesitate to recommend them for all your bidding requirements
